CSS Client Success Story

Our client Matt loves when Speech Therapist, Samantha, prints out pictures of his favorite characters!

Matt knows that we have both a black/white printer and a colored printer at the office.

For the first time, Matt successfully communicated his dislike for colorless pictures!

We are so proud of you, Matt!

July is National
CLEFT & CRANIOFACIAL
Awareness & Prevention
Month

National Cleft & Craniofacial Awareness and Prevention Month

Cleft and craniofacial conditions affect thousands of infants, children, teens, and adults in the United States each year.

Anomalies like cleft lip and palate often affect children's articulation skills making it hard to understand what they are saying.

Additionally it affects oral feeding skills making it hard to eat and drink adequately and safely.

How Speech Therapy Can Help

Speech Therapy is one way to aid children with speaking and feeding difficulties they may be having. Early intervention is key to developing good oral speech and feeding skills. Speech Pathologists work with children and families to improve articulatory precision and oral feeding skills before and after oral surgeries.

This will reinforce skills like oral airflow and consonant vocalization as well as improve chewing and swallowing skills.

NJSHA CELEBRATES NEW LAW
THAT ALLOWS RESIDENTS TO
INDICATE A COMMUNICATION
DISORDER ON STATE
IDENTIFICATION

NEW LAW BUILDS BRIDGES OF UNDERSTANDING WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT

TRENTON – May 18, 2023 –

Governor Phil Murphy signed legislation (S761) that makes law enforcement officers better prepared for any interaction they may have with an individual with a communication disorder during a traffic stop or other incident.

The law further supports New Jerseyans with ASD or other communication disorders such as Stuttering, Dysarthria, or Aphasia to be able to express their needs. This will help police understand the increased potential for communication challenges during encounters. This two-way communication helps prevent misunderstandings, as officers are presented these updated state IDs.

Moreover, NJSHA members noted, the signed law calls for more training of police to effectively communicate with people with disabilities.

Residents with at least one of these diagnoses or their parent, guardian, or caregiver who want to request this official notation on their license or ID must submit the required documentation to the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission.
