APRIL IS AUTISM ACCEPTANCE MONTH

Autism looks different for everyone, and each person with autism has a distinct set of strengths and challenges. Some autistic people can speak, while others are nonverbal or minimally verbal and communicate in other ways. Some have intellectual disabilities, while some do not. Some require significant support in their daily lives, while others need less support and, in some cases, live entirely independently.

How to Support Autism Awareness and Acceptance

11 Ways to Show Acceptance

Books about autism

1. Educate Yourself. Do your part to understand more about what autism is (and isn't) and how you can interact more effectively with individuals with autism.
2. Attend Local Events. Get actively involved in supporting autism awareness and activities in your area.
3. Be an Advocate. Stand up for children and adults with autism.
4. Speak Up. Write or call your state representatives, local legislators, or other leaders regarding proposed legislation that affects those with autism.
5. Be a Positive Role Model. Pay attention to your own actions and words when it comes to autism.

Autism awareness starts with you and your actions. When everyone works together, we can break down stigmas and increase acceptance.

OT MONTH

In celebration of Occupational Therapy Month, we are delighted to shine a spotlight on the incredible individuals who form the backbone of our occupational therapy team. Their unwavering dedication, expertise, and compassion empower individuals to reclaim their independence and thrive in their daily lives.

- Our therapists bring a wealth of knowledge and experience to every session. Their commitment to personalized care and innovative approaches ensures that each individual receives the tailored support they need to achieve their goals.

Summer Scheduling

Summer is the perfect time to add extra sessions and catch up on your child's therapy goals. Extra summer sessions help children make therapeutic gains while school is out to be ready for school in September!

We strive to do our very best to schedule every child with the appropriate therapist on a convenient day/time. Please fill out our form as soon as possible to allow us time to meet your therapeutic needs.

We greatly appreciate your anticipated flexibility and understanding.

Summer Handwriting Groups

Summer can be the perfect time of the year for children to improve their handwriting skills before the next school year begins.

Our OTs are highly trained in assessing the underlying reasons behind poor writing. Handwriting groups provide effective treatment through small group therapy.

Keep an eye out for more updates!

Fill out our Intake Form to indicate your interest in our new Handwriting Groups. Link
